

JOSHIAH

www.joshiah.com

Caveat: This document is a direct transcription from the original recording. Although it has been checked for obvious errors, it has not been finally edited. Editorial comments are in parentheses; probable wording is in square brackets.

June 4, 2006

Q and A

Joshiah: Well, now. Well, it is indeed a pleasure to be invited back into your vibrational level once again and we would remind you before we begin that there exists for you as well that opportunity for you to be involved in that telepathic interaction, that silent communication. That there exists for you, once again, as a result of the energy that you have created in this sacred space that opportunity for you to alter your consciousness and to interact with that portion of your so-called consciousness that you refer to as your higher self, or indeed with other entities that would be with us on this afternoon. And as always, the choice is yours. Absolutely.

Now. This vibrational level that you exist in, once again, is an illusion, and not to suggest it doesn't have significance, absolutely not, but nonetheless, it's an illusion. And entities existing outside of your vibrational level do not have the capacity to influence or to, indeed, to alter your illusion. Individuals existing outside of your vibrational level for the most part have absolutely no desire or interest in altering or interfering or creating this reality or altering your illusion. Absolutely not.

You, as entities, choose to enter into this vibrational level, and in order to enter into this vibrational level, you as entities agreed on what we refer to as the human consciousness level, to put in place, if you wish, to validate and to sustain certain what we refer to as human consciousness belief systems, belief systems that are very difficult for you to alter in your conscious state. Very difficult. Not impossible. But difficult because you as individuals entering into this vibrational level agree to participate and to validate and to sustain those realities, those belief systems that we refer to as the human consciousness belief systems, and that you in your conscious state might refer to as your so-called laws of physics. Difficult to alter. Absolute truths, if you imagine, that you hold in your conscious state that are beyond your capacity to alter. You can manipulate them, but to alter them, to change them in your conscious state is very difficult because you choose to hold that belief system.

And time and space are two of the most difficult for you to alter, for they validate the reality. They give you something, if you wish, to compare your creations to. They give you something to validate that there is this so-called past and a present and a future and as a result in holding those belief systems the past is beyond your control. You believe that you exist in the present and that the future is within your capacity to maybe influence. Difficult to absolutely control, but the possibility exists to influence the future. Absolutely. You would all agree to that.

And so, this belief in time allows you to create realities that appear to be beyond your control. For that future, once again, is a particular reality that you may have the opportunity and the capacity to influence but many would be challenged by the concept and the belief that it's completely within your capacity to control. Not only completely within your capacity to control, but you do control. And it's an illusion. It really doesn't exist. It only exists in your conscious state. In your altered states of consciousness, in your so-called meditative states and in your dream states, you get glimpses of the concept of existing without this illusion of time. And of course space is another belief system that goes hand in hand with the time. The two validate and complement each other.

And so, you believe in time and space. And they validate the reality. And they make it real. And you exist within this vibrational level, once again, because you chose. And as you enter into this vibrational level and as you make that choice, as well, you express and sustain and validate those belief systems, that establishment of the veil of that electromagnetic type of energy that exists within each and every atom of your entire universe. It's not hard to exist within each and every atom of your entire universe because it's an illusion. Once again, that's not to suggest it's insignificant, but nonetheless, it's an illusion.

Now. In your conscious state you would like to validate that you're in control. You'd like to validate that it is indeed within your capacity to have that expectation that we speak of, that the desire can be a very simple element in this creation process for you to accomplish. You can hold a desire. Many don't understand that the more specific, and the more detailed you are in your desire, then the easier it is to bring it into your imagination. And as you bring it into your imagination, the more that you can fill out the imagination and use all of your senses during this imaginary process, then the more probabilities that you will bring it into your reality providing that you have the expectation.

Now. In your conscious state the expectation can be a very difficult element for you to accomplish and to hold and to perpetuate. The expectation is the part that seems to perpetually elude one in this creation process. You can conjure up the desire, and you can indeed use your imagination to some extent to experience, at least imaginary, what it would be like to have that desire come into your reality, but then the expectation becomes more difficult.

Now. You believe in time and space. It's an element that you choose to put in place. It's an element that you choose to facilitate. It's what you agreed to when you entered into this vibrational level. You agreed to participate in and to put in place that electromagnetic type of energy, that veil, and you agreed to exist in your conscious state within the limitations that are put in place by that veil, not only in your conscious state, but in your altered states as well. But particularity in your conscious state the veil limits your understanding and your capacity to understand who and what you truly are. And so, in your conscious state it becomes very difficult to hold and to perpetuate this concept of expectation. If you don't have expectation, then indeed, the desire and imagination becomes simply that—imaginary elements, that you have difficulty bringing into your reality so that you can experience it.

And so, many would choose to have some type of a sign, if you wish. "Give us some belief, give us something that we can say, 'Well look at that. If I can accomplish that then surely I can accomplish all of the creation processes. But I need that element of validation.'"

And so, in your conscious state, many people wish to sidestep that time and space concept and belief system in order to reach the validation that allows them to experience and to indeed facilitate and validate the expectation, to bring into your reality the desires that you've been imagining. And so, you wish to sidestep time and space. When in reality if you work within many of the concepts that you agreed to facilitate in you can experience more success. It's very difficult to step outside and so when you're concentration is on stepping outside of that's what you agreed to participate in, it becomes very difficult to accomplish that which you would desire and that which you imagine.

Now. You look at it from a conscious state. In this conscious state that you exist in, this reality that you experience is real. We would challenge every individual, not only existing and sitting within your particular group, but every individual in your entire vibrational level in their conscious state to suggest that it's an entire illusion and that they can do whatever it is that they desire. That there are no limitations. For you see, you choose to put in place the limitation. You choose to validate it. You choose to participate.

And so, work within the participation and the chances of success become increasingly much more validated than if you attempt to work outside of that which you agreed to participate in.

You see, individuals in their conscious state, once again, would attempt to have some type of validation. To have something that says, "Well, I can create outside of this concept of time and space. And if I can have that validation, then I can do whatever it is that I desire. Then I have that expectation."

Well, now. We sit outside of your vibrational level and through the opportunity that is presented to us on a continual basis by our friend Elias we get an opportunity to tap into, if you wish, to share in the emotions and the feelings that you experience in this reality, to get a sense of what it's like to create in your reality. And once again, to suggest, indeed, that we have some sense of knowledge of your creation process that's beyond your capacity to understand or to access is absolutely ludicrous. We exist outside of your vibrational level. We're an entity that's entering in through our friend, Elias, and using that opportunity to express to you that which you desire to hear through the knowledge, indeed, which is accessible to each of you and is inside each of you, and it is not knowledge that we necessarily have access to that you don't have access to, and it's not necessarily knowledge that we contain or that we have possession of that's not available to you. Absolutely not. You have access to the creation process within your vibrational level that's not available to us. It's exactly the opposite. You just have difficulty accessing that information in your conscious state, because you choose to limit your capacity to understand the creation process.

Now, we as an entity existing outside of your vibrational level and having this opportunity to have a glimpse, if you wish, into your reality, and we look down into your creation, and we use an analogy, absolutely, and analogies are poor at best, for they allow one to have different perceptions of what it is that we're attempting to give you an explanation of, and it's bad enough that we have the limitations of a vocabulary to try to give you explanations without throwing in these other concepts, but nonetheless, we as an entity have this opportunity through our friend, Elias, to look upon your creation process, and to use that limited analogy concept, once again, it's like looking down at all of these particular creation sparks that exist within your vibrational level. We as an entity existing outside of your vibrational level understand the creation process. For us to create a reality where time and space are beyond the illusionary concept is not possible. We're aware that the reality that we experience is indeed a reflection of the beliefs that we hold. We are aware that the reality that we experience, indeed, is our creation.

You see, we exist in a reality that's similar to, to use, once again, an analogy, like you're stepping into a theater where you understand indeed that what you see upon the screen is someone else's creation, but nonetheless, illusion. In our reality we understand that it's an illusion, that it's our creation, and that we can change it. Doesn't mean it's not important. Doesn't mean it doesn't have significance. It's just that we understand the creation process.

You as individuals, as entities in this vibrational level, choose to limit your understanding of the creation process. You choose to limit. It's not that it's beyond your capacity to understand, but you choose to put in place that electromagnetic type of energy that limits the understanding of who and what you truly are while you exist within this vibrational level. And so, we as entities looking down upon your vibrational level, see these so-called sparks of consciousness, and they're creating. And they're creating a reality that they believe is real. And here is an entity who's creating a reality that they believe is absolutely and completely beyond their control. There they are involved in a scenario that you might refer to as an abusive situation. And they believe they're not in control. They're doing such a good job, that it's not within their capacity to understand that that's their creation.

And it's amazing! It's amazing that one can do that! We can't do that in our vibrational level. It's beyond our capacity. It's beyond our understanding, how an individual could do that. That is, indeed, an entity who has achieved a type of creation process that is beyond the capacity to duplicate and to create in any of the other vibrational levels throughout all of creation. That is an entity that has achieved the ultimate in creation. And yet, in your conscious state you would look at that and say exactly the opposite. You would say that that entity is a poor entity who has absolutely no understanding of their capacity to create their reality.

At some level within your subconsciousness you create every, every instance of every day-to-day activity and experience that you encounter. Absolutely.

The fact that there are limitations to your creation should be a validation that you are that powerful of a creator, that you can put in place the limitations and make them seem so real that they're beyond your control. It's amazing. It's absolutely amazing.

Accept who you are. Accept that you are, indeed, entities that are so much more powerful than it's possible for you to comprehend in your conscious state. And enjoy the experience. Absolutely. It's your creation. It's your reality. It's your illusion that you believe is real. Absolutely.

You are the god that you search for. You create your reality and you absolutely cannot fail. The rest is up for grabs. Absolutely.

Now. If you have any questions for us we would be willing to attempt to answer them for you.

Questioner: Is there anyone?

Questioner: Other entities outside this reality, like, when you interact with us you do it through Bub. Can others interact with us any way or not really?

Joshiah: Interaction is a limited interaction and that's an expression and a reaction to the expression of an intent. If you express the intent and you welcome the opportunity for that interaction, absolutely it can occur. Not only can occur, but does occur quite frequently in altered states of consciousness.

You see, in your conscious state it becomes very difficult for you to set aside that veil. It becomes very difficult for you to have that interaction, and yet, in your altered states of consciousness you interact with other individuals on a ongoing and regular basis, you just simply don't remember or have the capacity to remember that interaction in your conscious state. When you come out of a so-called dream state, you don't bring back accurate recollection of what it is that you're dreaming. It's all kind of a nonsensical type of a memory. Because it's not within your capacity to consciously hold that particular memory and to hold all of the interactions and all of the particular activities that you're involved in. But you do interact with other entities in this vibrational level, and should you express the intent, with other individuals and entities that exist outside of your vibrational level.

Time and space are illusions. They don't really exist. We're not somewhere else. We're on a different vibrational level. And we use the term "vibrational level" simply because it gives you an explanation through the use of a vocabulary that you can get some kind of a grasp of the concept. It's like to use the analogy, once again, that there are a multitude of frequencies, what you refer to as radio frequencies or airwaves or whatever terminology you wish to apply them, that exist within your so-called atmosphere. And you understand that you have the capacity to tap into a particular frequency while eliminating all of the other frequencies, that you absolutely understand exist within the same time and the same space, and yet, you tap into the one. And so it is in your so-called vibrational level, you tap into the one.

It's not that the others aren't there, and it's not that it's not within your capacity to interact with and to share with them. But understand that in this vibrational level, when you enter into it, once again, you as a human consciousness, as individuals agreeing to participate, put in that electromagnetic type of energy that limits the capacities of other entities to interfere or to enter into your vibrational level unless they agree to participate in the belief systems, in the human consciousness concepts that you have, once again, as a human consciousness agreed to participate in. In other words, you can't just, in your vibrational level, interact without, indeed, agreeing to participate, to put in those belief systems, the human consciousness belief systems.

And so, our interaction is very limited. Absolutely. As we've suggested many times we can't create in your reality, we can't influence your reality, we can't have any type of interaction that's going to have you experience a better day. Absolutely not. Not only can we not have that influence upon your reality, there are no other entities that can have that influence upon your reality, and you cannot have that influence upon anyone else's reality. Absolutely not.

You agree to participate in the creation process and in those altered states of consciousness you have that capacity to interact with other entities that exist outside of your vibrational level.

It's important as well to understand that, to use once again your analogy of the radio frequencies, that you tap into one radio frequency. It's not like all of the other radio frequencies out there are trying to tap into that same instrument that you're using to tap into. They really don't care. Some of them are not even designed to tap into that same particular element or that particular apparatus that you are tapping into, that frequency to bring into your reality the experience of a particular program or broadcast that you desire to participate in and to experience. All of the other frequencies are there. But do you think because you turn on that particular apparatus that they're all trying to get in there? Absolutely not.

And so it is that all of the other vibrational levels, for the most part, are doing their thing, as you are doing your thing. They have no desire to influence your reality. They have no desire to create for you. They don't sit out there waiting for some individual to invite them in so, "Oh boy, I can get down in there, and I can get my hands dirty, and I can create for them." Absolutely not. It just doesn't work that way.

We are interested. We are interested because, to use your belief in time and space once again, which are illusions, but nonetheless, to give you a concept that you can grasp in your conscious state, we have for many incarnations interacted with our friend Elias. There is a level of participation and interaction where we share. We allow him to experience glimpses of the concepts of creation that are beyond the experience that you have in your conscious state. And in return he allows us to have glimpses of the creation process that you experience in your so-called conscious state. It's a give and take. It's the sharing between two friends and we absolutely enjoy the interaction very much. But that's the limit to our capacity to influence your reality.

And so it is with other individuals that exist outside of your vibrational level. But do you have the capacity to interact with them? Absolutely. Not only do you have the capacity to interact with them, but in your altered states of consciousness, particularly in your dream state, or in what you refer to as your inbetween incarnational state, you do, many times interact with those entities. And it's not that they're, once again, some entities that are coming from somewhere way out there. Absolutely not. It's an alteration of your awareness of the particular vibrational level that you wish to participate in.

Does that answer your question?

Questioner: Yes.

Questioner: Is the Abraham a trail from you? Or is that a different entity than the Joshiah entity? The message is (inaudible).

Joshiah: We express information that is contained within each of you and so it should come as no surprise that other entities existing within this illusionary reality express the same information. You create your reality. You are the god that you search for. And you cannot fail. The rest is illusionary. The rest is simply an expression of belief systems, and you, as entities existing within this vibrational level, have access to that information.

Now. The irony of it is that you look towards information such as we express or you look towards similar information that others are expressing which should come as no surprise and they validate each other. "So that must be real. That must be the answer. That must be the way to go." And actually the way to go is withinside.

You will not find the answer that you seek, the answers that will give you the satisfaction that you desire, without going inside. What you desire cannot be expressed through the use of a vocabulary. It cannot be written down. It cannot be recorded in some type of recording device so that you can hear the message and say, "Ah, that's it. That's my answer. I don't have to search any farther."

The answers are withinside. The written material can give you glimpses of the particular elements that you can employ to discover that which is withinside that you have chosen to hide from, that you have chosen to not recognize in your conscious state. But only you can choose to get past that and to get glimpses of that recognition. If you wish to bring it entirely into your conscious state that's completely within your capacity to do so, but the chances of you staying within this vibrational level are very, very small, and in fact we would suggest they are so close to zero that it's not something that you would accomplish.

And yet, you will accomplish. You see, you absolutely cannot fail to come to the understanding of who and what you truly are. It's a given. You don't have to search for your spirituality, you can't lose it. It's who and what you are.

When you discover it you will be in an altered state of consciousness because, you see, you agree that in this state of consciousness that you will hold that understanding, you agree that in this state of consciousness it's not going to be possible for you to have the understanding of who and what you truly are and of the creation process. You agree to participate in that belief system, to sustain it, to make it real. And to take it away is to, indeed, step outside of that agreement, to step outside of that belief system. And you will do it. Absolutely. But the chances of returning to this conscious state are very slim and to retain that which you discover in an altered state of consciousness.

Does that answer your question?

Questioner: Yes, thank you.

Questioner: Well, I had a question during the channeling. I saw a woman talking with (name) and I just wondered if she was, is she inbetween incarnations right now or is she just somebody that is actually in, linearly speaking, someone that is a friend of (name) that's just somewhere else right now. But in an incarnation? Or do you even know?

Joshiah: It becomes very difficult to give explanations based on concepts of time and space. You see, you exist in the now. In your altered states of consciousness you get glimpses of what the now is. Each of you exist in all of the incarnations that you're going to exist in in your so-called past and in your so-called future in the now. And so, when you interact with someone in an altered state of consciousness, and you wonder, "Is that individual existing in this incarnational state or what's their particular point in time?" In that altered state of consciousness it does not exist. It does not exist. You exist in all of the so-called past and present and future in the now.

And so, when you're in an altered state of consciousness and you're interacting with someone and you wonder, "Is that individual in this incarnational period?" In your conscious state if you believe it that you are having that particular interaction then they can be in this incarnational state. It's an illusion. It becomes very difficult to give an explanation because you believe in time and space. You believe that there is a yesterday, and you believe that there are these entities that you're interacting with yesterday and they're still here and you're interacting with them today and it validates it and you may interact with them tomorrow because that validates the reality. It makes it real. But it only exists in your conscious state. It does not exist in your altered state of consciousness. And so, when you alter your consciousness, and you interact with other individuals, you do so in the now. And you're in all of the incarnational periods. Absolutely.

We realize the limitation of that explanation, but it becomes very difficult to answer a question to which there really is no answer.

And so, does that answer your question?

Questioner: Yes, actually I find I understand what you're saying, too, which is ... okay! No, I get it and it answers, yeah, it explains something else for me too. So, yes, thank you.

Questioner: Well, I have one more. From where you are, if you wanted to come into this reality, you've said many times you do not want to, but an entity outside would they have to do something to come into this reality? Like full incarnation, everything, the whole nine yards?

Joshiah: You enter into this reality by choice, into this vibrational level, and you will leave by choice. You're here by choice. There's absolutely no thing, no one, no entity, that has forced you to come into this vibrational level, forces you to stay in this vibrational level, or will have an influence over whether or not you leave this vibrational level, that's your choice.

Now. Every entity existing throughout all of the so-called creation process in all of the vibrational levels can enter into your vibrational level, as you will have the capacity and do have the capacity and at some limited understanding in your conscious state can get a grasp of the concept and in your so-called between incarnational state will have the capacity to choose to leave this vibrational level, you can do so. And so, should we choose to enter into your vibrational level, absolutely. It's completely within our capacity or any other entity's capacity to enter into your vibrational level as well as it is within your capacity and every entity within your vibrational level's capacity to leave this vibrational level should you choose so.

This vibrational level that you exist in is not all that different from any of the other vibrational levels that exist throughout all of creation. There's one very distinct difference and that is that electromagnetic type of energy that you put in place, that you agree to perpetuate, that limit's the understanding of who and what you truly are, and limits other entities who exist outside of your vibrational level to have an influence upon the creation within your vibrational level. The creation process is the same. The vibrational levels are quite similar. It's the belief systems in who and what you truly are in your conscious state that are entirely different.

And so, to give you a simple answer to your question, absolutely. Entities existing outside of your vibrational level, should they choose to enter it, can do so. You have, however, once again, as a human consciousness consensus agreed to participate in the validation of belief systems that put in place that electromagnetic type of energy that limits your understanding of your creation process. And to enter into your vibrational level entities agree to participate in, to sustain, and to validate that human consciousness belief system.

Does that answer your question?

Questioner: Yes, thank you.

Questioner: Did you come and go here during the Lemurian time?

Joshiah: (Laughs) Time is an illusion.

(Laughter)

We give you those analogies, if you wish, when we give you those explanations based upon time so that you can get a glimpse of an understanding of what it is. We continually suggest that it's impossible to give you an accurate explanation because we're trying to give you an explanation through the use of a vocabulary and through the use of a belief in time and space, and they don't really exist.

And so, were we here in the Lemurian times? (Laughs) Yeah, absolutely. And so were you. And so was every other entity that exists, not only in your vibrational level, but in all of the vibrational levels throughout all of creation. For the Lemurian times are an illusion, they only exist in terms of time and space because in your conscious state you believe in time and space. They exist in the now. Absolutely.

Does that answer your question?

Questioner: Yes, thank you.

Joshiah: Well, now. Once again, it has been a very enjoyable experience, and we would like to express to each of you our gratitude for allowing us this opportunity to interact and to share with you in your vibrational level. And we would once again suggest that we are not separated by time or space, but rather by a vibrational level and should you choose to interact with us you have but to express the intent, and we would welcome that opportunity to interact with you, to share with you, to offer you our unending support and our absolute and unconditional love. And we would bid each of you farewell, with love and with peace. ❀